

Contact: Valerie Vedron
219.487-9389
v.vedron@success-trek.com

Press Release

January 6, 2015

For Immediate Release:

Success Trek Welcomes IO and OD professional Kara Fasone

Valparaiso, IN – A new team member has joined Success Trek, increasing the firm’s emphasis on helping businesses and organizations sustain growth and profitability through Industrial and Organizational Development approaches.

Kara Fasone came to Success Trek through a client where she was completing a college internship. She will be working as an intern for Success Trek while she completes her master’s degree.

“Kara is a quick study, and has a firm grasp on OD. We are thrilled to have her while she hones her project consulting skills,” said Valade.

Fasone says her interest in industrial and organizational psychology began while pursuing her psychology undergraduate degree at Indiana University. “Consulting is very interesting to me, there is such a great variety of projects that arise through OD: the human part, the workflow part, the big picture part and the strategy to get there.”

While classes in Chicago and working with Success Trek take up most of her time, Fasone, a resident of Chesterton, says she enjoys the three F’s: Food, fitness and family.

“We are very excited to have Kara as part of our consulting team. Our clients will benefit as we sharpen our focus on providing customized solutions through partnership and alignment with their desired outcomes,” Valade added.

About Success Trek: Success Trek® is on a mission to make business challenges that seem difficult simple. We provide a logical approach and a new way of thinking to operational challenges and people dynamics for small to mid-size companies. We help you get it done by engaging your team and accelerating the results along the way. Our services include Strategic Direction, Strategy, Talent Management, and Workflow/Productivity solutions.

www.success-trek.com

###